

RUTGERS

Institute for Emergency Preparedness
and Homeland Security

The Institute for Emergency Preparedness and Homeland Security at Rutgers University and the State of New Jersey
Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness are hosting a presentation by the U.S. Secret Service on

Threat Assessment and the Prevention of Targeted Violence in K-12 Schools

Tuesday, April 28, 2015

At Livingston Hall in the Livingston Student Center
84 Joyce Kilmer Avenue, Piscataway, NJ 08854

Registration from 8:00 a.m. - 9:00 a.m.
Educational Program from 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m

Registration link: <http://conta.cc/1M3PCOH>

Program and Parking at No Cost to Participants

Topics to be covered include:

- Threat assessment and violence prevention plans in K-12 schools;
- Identifying students who might pose a risk of violence;
- Assessing whether a student poses a risk of violence;
- Effective Intervention Strategies;
- Best practices in Threat Assessment plans; and
- Case studies.

This free training event is intended for Teachers, Administrators, Principals, Heads of School, School Resource Officers, school counselors, school staff members, school board members, county prosecutors, school security officers, and other law enforcement officials.